

MEIJI University, School of Agriculture (SA) Student Exchange Program Application Guidelines

1. Application Qualifications

Applicants must meet the following requirements:

- Be enrolled full-time at one of the SA's partner universities and fulfill the requirements specified in the Agreement/Memorandum.
- Have been recommended by their home university.
- Have been admitted by the Faculty (SA) Council.

2. Features of the SA Exchange Student Program

(1) Classes for agricultural studies

All lectures for agricultural studies will be generally conducted in Japanese. For this reason, those applying for the SA exchange student program are generally required to have a certain level of Japanese-language proficiency. Therefore, before participating in this program, we will conduct an online meeting to evaluate Japanese-language skills.

(2) Japanese-language classes (For beginners and students with skills equivalent to level N5-N2 of JLPT.)

Japanese-language class level is decided according to the placement test held at Meiji University and is not ascertained before arrival. Japanese-language class varies according to Japanese language proficiency.

Syllabus : https://www.meiji.ac.jp/cip/english/admissions/FACTSHEET4exchange_EN.html#title7-1

*All Japanese classes are offered only at the Surugadai Campus.

(3) Laboratories

Supervisors provide instruction directly to students in the laboratories. The laboratories are comprised of 10-20 students and students actively discuss their research with supervisors. Students participating in these laboratories are able to interact with other students.

Please note that not all students will be able to participate in research laboratories. Eligibility is determined based on proficiency in both Japanese and English, as well as the number of available positions.

If you wish to engage in intensive research activities under the supervision of a faculty member (e.g., a lab professor) during the program—such as reading academic journal articles, giving presentations, and participating in discussions in English—you must meet one of the following language requirements:

- Japanese proficiency at JLPT N4 level or higher

OR

- English proficiency of at least:

TOEFL iBT: 72

IELTS: 5.5

If you are unable to provide an official language proficiency certificate, you will be asked to participate in an online interview with your prospective supervisor at SA. Your eligibility will be determined based on whether you demonstrate sufficient communication skills during the interview. Some laboratories require other language skills for their research activities, such as Chinese. So you may not be able to enter these laboratories if you do not have the required language skills.

*Before or even during the program, the acceptance of the research activity at a laboratory may be withdrawn due to the evaluation by the supervisor.
